Let me know if there's something else you need to complete your review -

No, I didn't call back in. I thought the EBR time was over, and they were discussing other sites.

Anyway, I have skimmed through the addendum, but I have a lot of reading to do to get the whole picture. So it will be after the holidays before I can get a review completed.

I'm leaving town today, and should be back in the office on January 4th. But I'll be reachable by email and phone, in case we need conference calls, etc.

Dan –

Glad you were able to make the call yesterday, but I don't know that you called back in after we were all cut off. When we got back on the line, we briefly discussed timing for comments on the EBR addendum, which I forwarded to you a couple weeks ago. Wondering how you are progressing with your review – normally the review time for such documents is 30 days, but Don has given us additional time as needed due to the holidays. However, they would like to get comments sooner rather than later – mine will not be real soon, too much else on my plate, so it's not a real rush at this point.

Thanks Eva
